PIT STOP TIMES - CLARIFICATION

The pit stop rule in article 61 of the 2016 Blancpain GT Series Sporting Regulations was included to prevent a further technological arms race in terms of tyre changing and refuelling technology. In particular, it defines the range as depending on the length of the pit lane, the target refuelling time and the target minimum time for the tyre changes.

This implies that by definition that any pit stop involving both refuelling and the changing of more than one tyre must be longer than the top of the range.

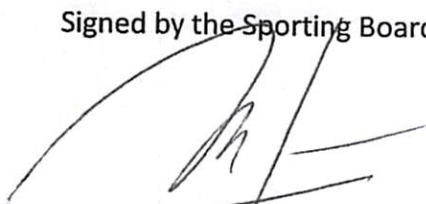

With the agreement of all teams, it is clarified that any such stop which is shorter than the bottom of the range will be reported to the Stewards and that article 61 will be changed as follows :

For Events run according to article 14 cases A, B and C (Endurance events), restrictions on the length of a pit stop will be imposed.

The total length of a pit stop, from pit in to pit out, may not fall within a 20-second time range. This range will be calculated depending on the length of the pit lane, the target refuelling time and the target minimum time for the tyre changes. The range will be published by the Stewards of the Meeting in a Bulletin at each Event.

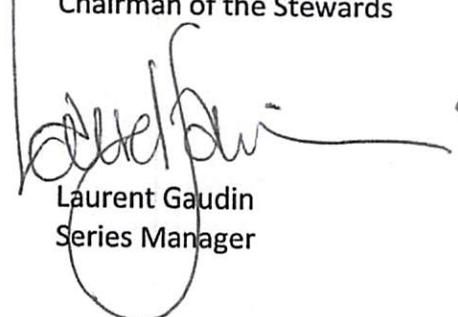

Should the length of any pit stop fall within the given range of times, or should the length of any pit stop including both refuelling and the changing of more than one tyre be below the range, a drive-through penalty may be awarded by the Stewards of the Meeting[...]
